The Ski Week and Hotpod yoga, Austria

Best for: Skiers who want it all.

'Tis the season to hit the slopes. If you haven't yet booked a ski trip, or – gasp – your friends don't ski, look no further than The Ski Week.

A week of skiing and après ski with wonderfully perfect strangers, The Ski Week guarantees the making of new friends (wink wink). With the price including a ski pass, instructors and guides, on-mountain jacuzzis, night skiing, and enough parties to defeat you, it's everything you could wish for, on and off the slope.

As anybody who has frequented skiing holidays will know, coming back refreshed is never on the agenda. However, fret not, as this year The Ski Week has teamed up with HotPod Yoga, offering hot vinyasa morning and après ski classes.

We're not saying you won't come back broken, just slightly less so. Ski Week and Hotpod yoga takes place in Obertauern, Austria, from 5th-19th March 2016. Prices €900-1150pp.

Stay here: The Ski Week have both shared and private apartments to rent.

Eat here: The best restaurants are housed in the town's hotels. For a rustic and delicious meal, The Latschenhof (A-5562 Obertauern, Ringstrasse 4) is among the best in town.

Drink here: If it's dancing on tables you're after, then Lurzer Alm (Ringstrasse 51) has your name all over it.
